

A Phoenix Spring - March, 2011

Those who live here know that spring in Phoenix is like nowhere else. It is a little window of perfection before the heat of summer kicks in. It might be said that March into April here, most years, is like heaven on earth.

Indeed we are taught that heaven itself is bathed in perpetual spring. The sun is at just the right elevation. The breezes blow with just the right gentleness. These, though, are effects and not causes. The cause of heaven's spring is the ideal blending of goodness and truth. Every angel and every community is inspired by the amount of love for usefulness that works for them. Each is also enlightened by the right amount of wisdom to enable them to get their loving work done.

As you enjoy spring where ever you are, remember that this is a little taste of heaven. May we all be inspired to love what is good and useful. And, may we be enlightened about how to live a bit like the angels.
